Morocco

Al-Maghrib, officially the Kingdom of Morocco is a country in North Africa. It has a population of 32 million.

The political capital of Morocco is the city of Rabat but the largest city is Casablanca; other main cities are Marrakech, Tetouan, Tangier, Fes, Agadir and Meknes. Almost all Moroccan cities have an Old Medina which reflects the historical past of Morocco and the New Town with its modern buildings, banks, cafes, cinemas, hotels and modern and wide streets.

Morocco has 3 official languages, Arabic, Berber and French. Almost most Moroccans speak Arabic and Berber as a native language in addition to French as a third language.

From the 6th century onwards, a series of powerful Berber dynasties arose and started the conquest of some European countries. A conquest that would last over 8 centuries.

Morocco has always been known for its values as a multi-faith society and openness towards the Western World. King Mohammed VI is democratically minded, showing tolerance within the limits of territorial integrity and traditional laws and customs.

Lebanon

Lebanon, officially the Lebanese Republic, is a country in the East of the Mediterranean. It is bordered by Syria to the north and east, and Israel to the south. Beirut is the capital of Lebanon and Arabic and French are the official languages of the country. Because of its close proximity to Israel Lebanon is home to around 100000 Palestinian refugees.

Lebanon has a rich history which shaped its cultural identity of religious diversity. In Lebanon there are Maronite Catholics and Druze, Muslims and Jews.

Before the Lebanese civil war the country experienced a period of calm and prosperity, driven by tourism, agriculture and banking. Because of this Lebanon was known as the "Switzerland of the East" and Beirut was known as the "Paris of the Middle East". The civil war which lasted until 1990 had a negative impact on the country; it has affected its people, economy and progress. But today Lebanon is progressing.

Like Morocco Lebanon is a member of the Francophone countries and hosted the Francophone Summit in October 2002 as well as the Jeux de la Francophonie in 2009.

Lebanon is known for its beautiful mountains and historic towns and villages. Today Lebanon is still a popular tourist destination.

Saudi Arabia

Known as the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia is the second-largest country in the Arab World after Algeria. It is bordered by Jordan and Iraq on the north and north east, Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain and the United Arab Emirates on the east, Oman on the south east, and Yemen on the south. The Red Sea (sea water inlet between Africa and Asia) lies in its west.

Saudi Arabia has an estimated population of 28 million of which 9 million are registered foreign workers and an estimated 2 million are illegal immigrants. Saudi nationals comprise an estimated 16 million people.

Saudi Arabia has the world's second largest oil reserves and is the second largest oil exporter. Oil accounts for more than 95% of exports and 70% of government revenues.

The primary source of law is the Islamic Sharia, derived from the teachings of the Quran and the Sunnah (the traditions of the Prophet pbuh)

In Saudi Arabia public executions is not uncommon. There have been 345 reported executions between 2007 and 2010. The last reported execution for sorcery took place in 2011.

King Abdullah Al Saud is carefully trying to encourage positive changes to Saudi society including improving women's rights and the position of women in the country.

Egypt

The Arab Republic of Egypt is a country in North Africa. Egypt is one of the most populous countries in Africa and the Middle East. The great majority of its over 81 million people live near the banks of the Nile River.

The capital of Egypt is Cairo, it is the largest city in Africa. Alexandria is another very important city in Egypt.

Cairo is a historical city famous for its historical monuments such as the Pyramids in Giza and the Al-Azhar mosque and university in Cairo. Tourism employs about 12% of Egypt's work force.

Egypt is a multi-faith society and has two major religious institutions, the Coptic Orthodox Church established by Saint Mark the Evangelist in the 1st century, and Al-Azhar University founded in the 9th century founded by the Fatimids as the first Islamic University in the world. Judaism is also practiced in Egypt.

Egypt is a recognised cultural icon in the Arab World. Modern Arab culture is heavily influenced by Egyptian literature, music, film and television. Many Arabs see Egypt as the Hollywood of the Arab World.
